THE NEW GILES RAILWAY.

The inauguration of the Giles Railway, which takes place this morning, is to our view of domestic politics the revindication of Buenos Airean rights; and in the gay party of friends who bowl over the green hills of Lujan in the Western Railway car, there may be found some Galilecan Tejedorista or Roquista who, last month, to please his party, and under the pressure of Tiro Nacionalism, or any other ism, abjured his faith in his country and its future, will, as he jump from the car at the Giles station, exclaim with the Italian astronomer 'E pur si muove,' which in common parlance means 'spite of all our blunders, all our errors, and all our drawbacks, the country moves on!!

The town of Giles is one of the most ancient in this Province; its camps are some of the richest in Buenos Ayres, and are covered with flocks of sheep, whose wools, for fineness and excellence of staple, are renowned in the great European wool markets. The population of the town is small, and whilst, we believe, the village numbered as many inhabitants in the early part of this century, when it was made the home of some of Whitlock's soldiers, its camps have risen in value, and the district is one of our richest. We cull from the pages of our River Plate Handbook the following few statistics respecting this partido, which holds an area of 43 square leagues, supporting thereon 3820 inhabitants, engaged for the most part in sheepfarming and estancia business. The estancias number 75, and at the last census held, 18,000 cows 11,000 horses and 420,000 sheep. The town of Giles boasts of a population of 910 inhabitants, and has a public school that teaches 210 children. There are 280 National Guards and 520 Irish families in the district.

It is so long now since we inaugurated a new railway in this province that a suspicion arises that our energies have drifted into new currents that rise up from the growth of our industries more than from our passions, prejudices and errors. The little railway inaugurated to-day is a line so short that its significance, in a railway point of view, amounts to nothing; the real import of to-day's 'funcion' is that the celebration, humble though it be, will lift the public mind from the meshes of clubroom politics, Remington rifleism and Tiro Nacionalism. The very money that has been squandered in this city in militarising its youth and inculcating principles which since the world began have proved troublesome and dangerous to every free people, would have paid for the steel rails that fully a year ago, but for our political folly, should have been laid up to the town of San Antonio de Areco and over the Molina camps that are now owned by the Ham family.

But the descendants of Ham, Shem and Japhetd can, from the obscurity of their earliest annals, point to no more lasting triumph than the locomotive, whose shrill whistle will re-echo this morning for the first time through the hills of Giles.

BANKRUPTCY CASES.

The following important letter from Dr. Jose F. Lopez, one of the first commercial lawyers in this country, will be read with the keenest interest by merchants and all interested in trade or business. The crying abuses to which Dr. Lopez refers have now reached an insupportable point, and it only requires firm and united action on the part of the commercial community to secure, if not their total abolition, at least a sensible mitigation of a state of things which is a disgrace to our commercial legislation. Dr. Lopez's suggestions will commend themselves to all merchants; but not a few, perhaps, would prefer to see established a Bankrupt Court on the English model, to deal exclusively with such cases, with 'viva voce' examinations of those interested, and other simple means to do away with the outrageous waste of money, time, stamps, pens, ink and paper which the present antiquated system entails. Some remedy must be found, as the present state of things is unendurable any longer:—

Bankruptcies, and how the Commercial Community can save their Estates.

To the Editor of the Standard,
Dear Sir,

Your well-directed strictures on the Migone bankruptcy case, pointing out the commercial calamity of the 'concursos,' suggest to me some remarks on the subject, which may be useful and bring about the discussion of the matter, for the practical purpose of curing the evil spread in such epidemical proportions.

The Migone case may be, perhaps, the most prominent amongst the many cases of this chronic disease called 'concursos,' which has been for so many years subject of comment in the Press, and of your calling for some reform against this canker worm of the commercial community. As you mention, the action of the law, interpreted by honorable judges, has already succeeded in saving the estate the extravagance of half a million dollars fees, and there is confidence of still saving other extravagances. But if the actual patient has been saved from this terrible disease, the commercial community at large continues liable to its repeating itself in many other cases as before, if proper and radical steps are not taken to eradicate the evil, or at least render its occurrence less frequent.

It is the history of this nuisance that in every 'concurso' there are two bankruptcies: the commercial one of the trading firm, leaving, as a rule, from 20 to 80 per cent to the creditors; and the judicial one, of the estate, the winding up of which turns into a second and worse bankruptcy, the whole estate being eaten up, like Saturn's children, by the paternal administration of the Syndicus and his lawyers, till there remains nothing more to be administered, or distributed to the creditors: So, as a rule, the end of every 'concurso' is a total loss for the creditors, one portion being consumed by the privileges of the fiscal banks, and the rest by the judicial proceedings and the performers of the play. From an estate worth at the beginning 30 or 80 per cent, the poor creditors, after five years' waiting, get only great piles of written stamp paper, growing up, as long as there is money, in exchange for piles of paper money of their estate, till both piles are nearly balanced, and then there is an end of it. All has been spent in spinning the web of litigation, which has become the comfortable nest of the Syndicus for so many years. On taking possession of such a nest or estate, he may repeat the Persian verse, not like Mahomet when taking possession of a palace in Constantinople: 'The spider has woven his web in the imperial palace;' but in this way: 'The spider has woven his web in the pocket of the creditors.'

One of the most astounding features of the Migone case, pointed out by the Standard, is that the accounts of the fees of the syndic's lawyer amounted to half a million dollars. In the 'concurso' of Olendorff they amounted to more than $500,000, and with the syndic to more than $600,000; that is more than the whole value belonging to the estate of the creditors, deducting a mortgage of two millions. This estate, which could have been wound up in six months, with $20,000 expenses, has been a ten years spinning web of lawsuit after lawsuit of the syndicus against the mortgage of Messrs. Drabble Bros. and Mr. Hart; and after the said syndicus has been condemned in all these lawsuits, he pretends now that they will pay him and his lawyers' fees for fighting against them, which, of course, I rejected. This is, more or less, the result of the 'concursos;' the commercial creditors get nothing unless they have a mortgage to get rid of the syndicus, acting for themselves. This is the reason why the merchants look with horror upon such 'concursos,' and subscribe rather to any capitulation with their debtor, than go to law, where the estate is consumed in a barren heap of formalities and written stamped paper.

All are complaining under this calamity, but no steps have been taken to prevent it. In this case, as in other cases, our community is powerless to apply the remedy, as it depends upon the reformation of an inconvenient law, and matters of law reform are entangled with politics. But there is a shorter and direct way to eradicate the evil, by the action of the community itself.

Let us first point out the evil, and where it lies, and the remedy to cut it off at the roots.

This lies then in rejecting the appointment of a syndicus or manager of an estate, unless elected by the creditors themselves. There is no personal or confidential connection between the truster and the trustee. Such a connection is necessary, that the creditors may look for the most convenient person, and settle the terms of his fees, not exceeding, for instance, one per cent. of the real value of the estate; as every one looks for his lawyer, his attorney, his physician and his cook, the creditors of bankrupt estates should look for a reliable person to appoint as their attorney or syndicus, to save their money, and not to consume it in fees till there is nothing left to administer or to care for. Against this chronic disease we advise the following measures:—

1. Any liquidation or settlement of a bankruptcy to be done privately by the creditors themselves with their debtor, appointing a liquidator for the winding up of the estate, and a lawyer for the legal direction of the matter, drawing up of the deed of agreement and the delivery of the 'carta de pago' (full quittance), after the conditions of such agreement have been complied with. Such transaction is the cheapest and the quickest. In a month's time we have settled the estate of two houses, each worth more than two million dollars; written down the lump sum of the agreement to be paid to the creditors, the portion of absent creditors deposited in the bank to their account, and all the conditions of payment have been fulfilled in six months, the 'carta de pago' delivered and all finished, and the house going on all right again, and our fees did not exceed $5000. Messrs. Hardy and Co. and Mr. Hermann Altgelt were the representatives of the greatest number of creditors in the last case. If I had advised the declaration of bankruptcy, the money received by the creditors, and the whole estate of the house, now going on very well, would have been consumed in straw-fire and judicial performances, ending in smoke and piles of written stamp paper. In a very remarkable case of our clients Messrs. Heyworth, Pearce and Ballman of Liverpool, claiming £150,000, I resisted the declaration of bankruptcy urged by them against their debtor, as I was confident that whatever may be the difficulties of the settlement in course of negociation, I should succeed in overcoming them, as I really did, the debtor passing over to my client all his properties, counting to £100,000 with the money paid by his partner, the Testamentaria of the late Thomas Armstrong. All these properties and money secured to the firm of my clients would have been the combustible for bonfires of litigation if a bankruptcy declaration had taken place.

2. In any kind of settlement, either by liquidation for the account of the creditors, or by a quittance for a round sum, to appoint a reliable merchant or accountant for the winding up of the estate in the first case, and to ascertain the condition of the house by the inspection of the books in the second one.

3. The judicial winding up of the bankruptcy up to the 'concordato' (agreement), costs very often from 20 to 30 per cent of the estate. The said agreement conducted and concluded by a lawyer without stamp paper, nor detriment of the credit of the firm branded with the bankruptcy published in the newspapers, and its business closed, cannot exceed 1 per cent.

4. The time of mere judicial formalities, till the legal opportunity of the 'concordato' has arrived, even in a fair and smooth way, is as a rule one year. When the merchant again takes up his business, he feels himself relieved for the moment of the half of his debts discharged for him by the 'concordato'; but when trying to move, he feels the relief an illusion, since the half of the burden discharged by the 'concordato' to put him again on his legs, is thrown upon him again by the bills of the syndic and his lawyers, and the destruction of his business and his credit. Those bills are paid with the present, and the creditors with the future, very often like a certain extinguished firm of four years ago, whose pagares of the 'concordato' cannot be executed, because the business was liquidated, and the debtor's property is put in a third party's name. We are still executing some pagares of Mess Duguid and Co, against the same debtor, and the rest of the creditors have been tired out and have given up their claims.

5. This being a chronic fact of a chronic disease, what is the use of the creditors bringing their own estate, worth 40 or 80 per cent., which they may realise for themselves, into a judicial bankruptcy, which will eat up the whole substance of the estate? The commercial bankruptcy may be a loss of from 20 to 30 per cent., but the judicial bankruptcy winds up in a total loss for the creditors, or, at the best, their only prospect is that after a firm has been ruined and its estate squandered in judicial performances, they have still to wait five or six years for 1 or 2 per cent. dividend.

6. In spite of these notorious facts of a notorious calamity, there may still be found creditors speculating with the same, refusing the agreement of the majority, and threatening to bring the matter to the law, that is to the fire, expecting, perhaps, the compensation of a syndicate or otherwise. Even these few cases could be remedied by a single step, if a committee of merchants was constituted to get a compromise signed in a body by merchants and members of the Bolsa, obliging themselves in cases of bankruptcy to settle them by the majority of creditors, and in case of difference, a meeting to be called and presided over by the President of the Camara Syndical of Commerce.

The Standard complains also about the high charges in the 'testamentarias.' If such cases happen there is now, by the new law, the remedy of appealing from the Judge's estimate to the Court for redress, which, in the majority of cases takes place, the said charges being reduced in all equity and fairness.

If the parties wish to have an absolute security against such troubles, or that the expenses will never exceed a certain sum, they have the advantage of setting the same before hand, and they may be sure of its costing them not a farthing more, and of the shortest winding up, however long or complicated may be the case, since by Art. 66 of the Ley de Enjuiciamiento, when such agreement of fees has been entered into, the lawyer is not entitled to the estimate of fees, even if they were worth more than the agreed upon sum.

Hoping that these practical remarks may be useful in such important matters, to save so many troubles and expenses to the commercial community, and thanking you for the space accorded in your columns,

I am, dear Sir,
Yours very truly,
José Francisco Lopez.

The Liebnitz's Mails.

London, March 5th.

In the House of Lords, last evening, the Lord Chancellor moved the second reading of the Settled Land Bill, and a lengthy debate followed. Their lordships afterwards considered the Relief of Distress (Ireland) Bill in committee.

In the House of Commons, the Civil Service Estimates were taken in committee of supply.

While the Czar's fearful position excites a certain amount of pity at the Austrian capital, our correspondent telegraphs that the universal opinion entertained is that the Russian authorities have engaged upon a reckless task, which they have no earthly chance of carrying through. A small group of men are regarded as responsible for the whole mischief, and these are the objects of general reprobation and contempt.

The man who fired at General Loris Melikoff has been tried, sentenced to death, and will be hanged to-day. It is stated that during his trial he maintained a defiant demeanour, and stated, amongst other things, that some of his comrades would yet kill General Melikoff; a second man failing in the attempt, a third would be found to execute the deed.

Our Vienna correspondent telegraphs that the excitement in St. Petersburg in respect of the attempt to shoot General Loris Melikoff is intense, and a terrible panic prevails. A renewal of the attempt against the General has been announced by placards.

According to a St. Petersburg correspondent, our Paris correspondent telegraphs, a Nihilist meeting of rather a stormy character was held on Tuesday evening, one party being for the instant execution of the threats announced in the last proclamation, while the other was for a delay. The Moderates finally carried their point.

A proclamation from the Russian Revolutionary Committee, calling upon the French nation not to give up Hartmann to the Russian Government, appeared both in the Laterne and the Mot d'Ordre yesterday.

It is rumoured, our Paris correspondent states, that the Czar is about to travel for several months, and that during his absence from Russia the Government will be entrusted to his eldest son, an arrangement which might possibly be the precursor of his abdication and of the introduction of reforms.

Speaking on Wednesday at New York, M. de Lesseps said that owing to fears of international complications, the opposition to his canal scheme was not yet over; but this idea of political complication, he declared, was groundless, and the Americans had only to support him liberally to secure to New York the head-quarters and control of the enterprise.

President Porfirio Diaz has given a banquet, followed by a grand festival, in honour of General Grant's arrival in Mexico.

Telegrams from Washington announce that the chiefs of the Ute Indians have virtually agreed with the Secretary of the Interior to surrender their reservation and to leave Colorado.

Mr Parnell on Wednesday addressed a large meeting at Springfield, at which the Governor of Illinois acted as chairman.

The annual meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association, held at Ottawa on Wednesday, was attended by the Marquis of Lorne, who advised the association to direct its best efforts to strengthening the connection between the volunteers of Canada and England.

Mr S. Morley, M.P., presided last night at a conference of the working men of Westminster, to consider the best means to be adopted to secure united action for the purpose of obtaining the return to Parliament of the two Liberal candidates, Sir A. Hobhouse and Mr John Morley.

In the Chancery Division, yesterday, a suit was brought to restrain the manager of the Gaiety Theatre, Barnsley, from carrying on dramatic and musical entertainments. The plaintiff alleged that his property, which was adjacent to the theatre, suffered in consequence of that building, which was of wood, being exposed to great risk of fire. It was further stated that the character of the performances was such as to make the place an intolerable nuisance; and a play-bill was read, in which one of the pieces played was called 'The Six Stages of Crime; or, Wine, Women, Gambling, Theft, Murder, and the Scaffold.' The son of the notorious criminal Charles Peace was also advertised to appear, give selections on the concertina, and answer any questions put by the audience. The case was not concluded when the Court rose.

The trial of Mrs Georgina Weldon, on the charge of having published a false and malicious libel against Mr Jules Prudence Riviere, was continued yesterday in the Central Criminal Court, and was further adjourned till this morning.

John Wingfield, a labourer, was yesterday sentenced to death at the Central Criminal Court for the wilful murder of his wife at Kilburn, in January last.

At the Westminster Police-court, yesterday, a well-dressed man, who was stated to hold a good appointment in the City, was charged on remand with stealing an overcoat and umbrella, value six guineas, at the Grosvenor Hotel. He was committed for trial, but bail in two sureties of £50 each was accepted for his appearance.

Klaus Fesser, a fish porter, was finally examined yesterday, at the Southwark Police-court, and committed for trial on the charge of unlawfully taking away from her parents a girl, aged twelve and a half years.

Yesterday, on the Stock Exchange, the prominent feature was an active demand for home lines, which experienced a general rise. Brighton 'A' and London and North-Western were chiefly purchased, and rose 1½ per cent. The variations in foreign bonds comprised an advance in Argentine, and a decline in Russian. Consols receded ⅛ per cent. for money, to 97⅜, ⅜, but were unaltered for the account, 97⅞, 98. At the Bank about £11,000 was received.

A Dublin Correspondent telegraphed last night:—'The executive committee of the Duchess of Marlborough's relief fund met this afternoon in Dublin Castle. The Duchess presided. It was stated that the total amount in the Bank of Ireland to the credit of the fund was £78,315 10s. 4d., including £6,100 since the meeting of the Committee on Monday last. Her Grace read a letter from the Lord Mayor of London, enclosing a further contribution of £2,000. The Mansion-house committee also met, and a statement was read showing that the total amount of contributions to the fund was £100,647. Grants were made to the extent of 2,900."

Pride is never so effectually put to the blush as when it finds itself contrasted with an easy but dignified humility.

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN CHURCH

The annual Easter Vestry of the above church was held in the School-room on Tuesday, the 30th inst. The Rev. Dr. Smith, Rector of the Church, occupied the chair.

The number of votes held by the registered vestrymen present amounted to 68.

After approval of the minutes of the last annual vestry, Mr. Gardner B. Perry, the Treasurer, laid before the meeting the ordinary accounts for the year ending December 31, 1879, which showed a small balance in the treasurer's hands. With regard to the special accounts, showing receipts and expenditure on account of church repairs and improvements, these showed a considerable balance due to the treasurer.

These accounts having been approved, the Secretary read the Report of the Select Vestry for the year. The chief points referred to in the Report are the following :—H.M. Government has consented to retain the trusteeship of the church building and property. Steps are being taken to secure the registration of the Select Vestry as a 'persona juridica' An account of the repairs and alterations effected in the church and adjoining premises is given; it had been found necessary to pull down the old chancel wall, this not being sufficiently strong to carry the heavy stonework of the new windows and verandas; advantage was taken of this to extend the chancel six feet; on this account the estimates for the improvements had been somewhat exceeded.

A statement is made to the effect that the expenses attending the erection of the new windows and verandas have been defrayed by the donors, that the ordinary expenses of the establishment, ever since the withdrawal of the subsidy formerly given by the British Government, have always been defrayed out of the ordinary revenues, and that the special appeals made by the Select Vestry were exclusively for the purpose of meeting the extraordinary expenses on account of necessary repairs to or improvements in the church building, duly authorized by the Registered Vestry.

During the year there had been an increase in the average attendance of both children and teachers in the Sunday School. The School Library had been increased by a donation of fifty volumes.

The report having been approved, Mr George Tucker proposed a vote of thanks to the Treasurer, Mr G. B. Perry, for his untiring labors and sacrifice of time in the performance of his duties as treasurer and churchwarden, and in personally superintending the work of improvement which had been so well carried out in the church. Mr Reginald Nield seconded this motion, which was unanimously carried; the thanks of the meeting were then conveyed to Mr Perry by the Chairman, who added his personal thanks for the many services rendered by the treasurer.

Mr. Perry, in acknowledging the vote of thanks, said he could only accept this on the supposition that his colleagues in the Select Vestry were included in the vote.

One of the vestry men present, referring to the statement in the Report that a balance was still owing the Treasurer on account of the improvements, volunteered a donation to the fund. Others present following this example, the sum of $12,250 was subscribed.

A letter from a registered vestryman was read by the Chairman, offering a monthly contribution of $300 for a period of twelve months, and suggesting that others might be willing to contribute in a similar manner to the improvement fund.

The meeting then proceeded to elect a churchwarden and two select vestrymen for the next year. The votes having been counted the chairman announced the result of the election to be as follows :—

Churchwarden—Mr. Gardner B. Perry.

Vestrymen—Mr. Beginald Nield, Mr. John Zimmermann.

The Rector nominated as his churchwarden for the year, Mr. George Cooper.

Mr. Barnes having proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for his conduct in the chair,

This was seconded by Dr. Hiron, and carried unanimously.

The meeting then separated.

MONTEVIDEO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

March 29th, 1880.

I read some observations you made in a leader on the subject of our political affairs, and I am sorry to say that I am not of your opinion on the subject of the influence the daily press has had on the turn things have taken and in the general influence it has on politics in general. It is my opinion that the press is the originator of all the trouble, not only in this instance, but also in almost every other instance where the public weal has been affected by the revolutionary opposition. It is true that in comparison with your journals the press of this country is far more circumspect, but there is more danger in the public mind being disturbed by a systematic pasquinade in this country than there is in yours, owing to the warlike character of the people. With regard to Latorre's wholesale condemnation saying that the people of this country are ungovernable, there is more truth in it than a public writer is generally willing to acknowledge. But the truth should be told, however irksome, and the more so because it is easily misconstrued. When Latorre condemned the people as ungovernable, he means a certain noted portion of it, and the proof of it is that he expresses his gratitude for the assistance and support he has experienced at the hands of the rest of the people.

The fact of the matter is, my dear Sir, that few of the South American republics are more difficult to keep in peace than the Uruguay—a period of four years peace, such as we have had, is a 'rara avis' in this country, and that is known well. What is the cause? Nothing but the unquiet spirit of the native population, and to prevent this evil from coming to the front and constantly provoking an outburst, a strong government is the only resource for a time because the evil doers must be put down, or else never shall we have a stable government. Latorre's administration may have committed some faults, even some very egregious faults; but look upon the many good things it has done, and I am sure that in the mind of the impartial and the just independent spirit of the righteous he will find the balance is inclined very much in his favour. Forty or fifty millions of money squandered away by his near predecessors coming from foreign and internal loans that will weigh upon coming generations for many years, pensions granted to every native for imaginary services, situations as employees given to all the young people that should have been made to cast their future lot in more productive and far-seeing pursuits, robbing and pilfering and wholesale contraband as a system by the men employed by the government offices, all which are proved beyond any doubt by the scandalous fortunes made by employees and those that abetted and encouraged it for their own purposes,—all these have been more or less suppressed, order and honesty established as a sytem of administration throughout the country; no more loans have been contracted, every thing was duly paid up to the end of the provisional government, robbery outside suppressed with a strong hand, the farmer and the estanciero was the owner of his stock and not the highway-robber as in former times: and are these not worth mentioning? Foreign debts attended to regularly as far as it was possible to do with diminished resourses and a dreadful economical crisis, Home debt also attended to in a similar way; the scandalous paper money system eradicated for good and all; the existing paper converted and amortised regularly towards its total extinction. Are all these not worth mentioning? Where is the example of a better administration in this country, even in Berro's time? And are all these not to be brought home to him that so worthily did them; are all these to be forgotten and nothing brought to him that was the author of them all? stigmatise him daily by the press with tyranny, and robbery, butchery and all the bitter and never ceasing attacks of the opposition press that has brought all the trouble and vexation? Witness the conduct of the opposition press, and it will be seen that never was impartial mention made of the good acts of the Government. All was hushed up, to bring to the surface any defect, any error, any unjust charge that might be made to influence against the Government; and the consequence was that public confidence in the stability of the country was shaken to its very foundation; and that, together with the bad state of trade and the penury of the people through former extravagance, has brought things to a state for which nothing but a change of Government seemed a remedy; but, a change for the better? That is the question. I say, let us have peace, and let the country go on; let the sheep and cattle farmer prosper; let agriculture thrive, and let property be a real personal acquisition outside, and we shall do well in course of a few years. Let revolutionary sway get the upper hand and woe to the country. Then we shall see fresh loans, fresh contracts for supplies, plenty of contraband, the revenue robbed by the employees and their abbettors and we shall have plenty of liberty—to do evil things. And we shall end by disappearing from the list of nations, from among the small fry of South American republics, which may be the least evil after all.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The London papers per Lamport and Holt's fine steamer Leibnitz, commanded by the popular Captain Brown, were delivered early yesterday morning. The latest dates are to 5th ult., and we give extracts in another column. The eyes of all Europe are centred on Russia where a veritable Nihilistic Reign of Terror prevails. The man who attempted to shoot Count Melikoff, Chief of the new Executive Committee, was tried by court martial on the 4th of March and hanged at dawn on the 5th. What saved the Count was his habit of wearing five or six flannel shirts, as he is a delicate man and dreads the cold; the six shirts stopped the pistol bullet—a hint worth knowing for politicians in more countries than Russia. The Irish Relief Funds have all taken a spring upwards, and subscriptions are still pouring in: The Dublin Mansion House Fund is now £100,000; the Duchess of Marlborough's is £78,000, and the New York Herald's £100,000, and large sums ere expected from France.

The English Bachelor's Ball at the old Coliseum is the great event to-night. The place will be simply a second edition of Fairy Land, with all the lights and flowers that are to do duty on the occasion. The Progreso Club had better look out for its ball laurels, as the fete to-night promises to excel any thing we have yet had in the Terpsychorean line. Carriages to be ordered at 3 o'oclock to-morrow morning.

Several extremely rheumatic subscribers (why dont they try the celery remedy?) told us yesterday that it will rain soon, as they were all in excruciating torture. We have intense faith in their prediction, but neither the sky nor the Standard barometer looked like immediate rain yesterday.

The announcement, yesterday morning, of another 'caso sospechoso' in the Roads brought the heart of Buenos Ayres society to its mouth with a bound. There appears to be more than 'sospecha' about the case. The vessel, the Spanish barque Rosario, was from Rio, and the victim showed symptoms of yellow fever after the ship had been three days in quarantine: next day he was dead and buried, off Point Indio. The season is so far advanced that we can see no cause for public alarm in this case, if the crew of the Rosario be not allowed to come on shore too soon.

Parties going up the river should note that an express train leaves the Central Station to-day at 2½ p.m. in connection with the splendid steamer Proveedor, for San Pedro, San Nicolas and Rosario. There is no better steamer on the river than the old Proveedor.

We have to thank a leading Gualeguaychu subscriber for his very nice present of pears from that locality, and a graft of the tree that grew them. Montevidean pears are mere pippins compared with these Gualeguaychu monsters, and we invite all connoisseurs in the fruit to drop in to Standard Court and try them, or at least have a look at them.

Nothing new from Montevideo. The Government has sent an energetic circular to all the Getes Politicos in the Departments, enjoining on them the strictest attention to their duties, above all the impartial administration of Justice, and to keep a sleepless eye on security for life and property. So far so good.

The greatest fun at the St. Cloud fete at Bickert's Bier Garden on Sunday was the cigar auction held by the charming Mesdlles. Bernheim. The bidding began at $10 m|c., and rose to $15, when an enthusiastic Frenchman bid $50 m|c., thinking to carry off the prize, but a fashionable young Argentine topped him with a bid of $100 m|c., and carried off the weed. It is well for the public that fair ladies do not become auctioneers, otherwise there would be small chance of securing a cheap lot of tables and chairs now and then. $100 m|c. for one cigar! Caspita!

The English papers announce that Prince Rudolf, heir to the Austro-Hungarian crown, has gone to join his Imperial mother in Ireland, and have a few runs with the Ward Union hounds. If his Imperial Highness has never crossed that country before, he had better be careful of his neck; it is rasping, and Galway stone walls are child's play to its sunk fences and double ditches. The Empress got a fall last month, but was not hurt, although her horse was.

The National Intervention in Jujuy ceases to-day. The decree was issued yesterday. It is to be hoped that the good Jujuyans wont get up another row the moment the National Commissioner turns his back; but it is by no means unlikely.

Owing to our special Sporting reporter being suddenly summoned to Cordoba on urgent private affairs, he had to leave us in the lurch respecting the Southern Railway Sports on Monday. We hear that they were a brilliant success, fully 2,500 people being present. The weather was what we call at home 'Queen's weather,' ie as fine as it well could be, and all the arrangements were carried out with true British punctuality. The numerous events were in general well contested, and some of them caused great excitement. The prizes attracted great attention, and are declared the handsomest ever competed for at these Sports of the Southern Railway. Amongst the winners were Messrs Lyon, Kidd, Murning, Ford. Anthony, Parks, Oxenford, Marshall, Huggins, Medina, Sheridan and others. We congratulate the Southern Railway men on the success of the day's doings, and hope that next year our reporter will find time to attend to our business as well as his own.

Want of space forces us, most reluctantly, to hold for to-morrow Mr. Thomas Drysdale's eloquent farewell address to the Scotch Sunday School, delivered on Tuesday evening at the Scotch Church.

We have to thank Captain Dickenson and the Purser of the R.M.S. Minho for sending us London papers to 4th March from Montevideo. The Minho entered yesterday.

Our Catholic readers will learn with much pleasure that, on Monday last, the Revd. Father Martin received the official authorisation of His Holiness the Pope to establish a House of the Order of Passionists in this city, and on Tuesday the Archbishop of Buenos Ayres also gave his formal sanction to the mission. It is needless to comment on the manifold advantages that must result to Father Martin's countrymen and co-religionists in this country by the establishment of this pious and zealous religious Order in their midst.

The Montevidean 'emigres' in this city published a long manifesto yesterday. It is a moderate and sensible document enough, and no red hot patriotic nails in it, like most productions of the kind in these latitudes.

The most sickening murder we have ever heard of was perpetrated last week at Chivilcoy, the victims being an old woman and her son, a man of middle age. The man had 18 stabs in his body and his stomach cut open, the murderers pouring a pot of melted grease into the frightful wound: the old woman had her head all but severed from the trunk, and was then hung from the rafters. The only news about the assassins is that a 'partida de policia' started to look for them the day after the crime.

The papers by the Lamport & Holt steamer Leibnitz were delivered to-day. They are to the 5th March. The London money market shows rather a tightening tendency. One of its principal speculative features at present is a mania for Indian Gold Mining Companies. The arguments in the great Bolivian case on appeal before the House of Lords had concluded, and Bolivian Bonds advanced to 45 on the expectation of a speedy judgment being given. Argentine and Buenos Aires Bonds, Great Southern 6 per cent, Debenture Stock and Central Uruguay Railway Shares rose slightly on the 4th inst. The following is the latest about the money market—

"The easier tendency of the money market continued until the appearance of the Bank return, when there was somewhat less disposition to take in bills at the current terms of 2½ per cent for three months' bank paper. Although there has been a general better demand for bills among lenders, some of the larger banks decline to discount at all under 3 per cent. This is no doubt due to the fact that they have been able to employ as much as they cared to lend on short loan. In the present circumstances the banks seem to prefer to lend on bills to discounting them outright. The reserve of the Bank has declined half a million, and owing to this and the increase of the liabilities under the head of 'public and other deposits,' its proportion to the liabilities has fallen about 4½ per cent. The 'other securities' have risen about three millions. The future course of the market will depend upon the ease or difficulty with which the Bank is repaid what has been borrowed recently. In any case it is improbable that value can for the present exceed the Bank rate. The foreign exchanges are again very firm, the French rate having advanced to 25f. 25c."

Yesterday President Avellaneda and the Minister of the Interior approved and signed the contract entered into by the Engineers' Department for supplying the rails for the extension of the railways in the upper provinces. It won't be long now till the works are commenced.

Estancieros in the North of the province who wish to increase their estates would do well to keep an eye on a very fine piece of camp in Rojas which the well known auctioneers Messrs Baltar & Quesada have for sale. It is excellent camp, with the Rojas river running along its entire front, and adjoining Mr Edward Casey's splendid estancia, formerly Llavallol's.

The following, in reference to the London wool market, is important :—

"The Financier points out that the prices paid at the current London sales represent advances ranging from 15-40 per cent compared with the rates ruling a year ago. Such a change is evidently not only of great importance to our home manufacturing interests, but must add largely to the prosperity of several important markets for our exports. Amongst the countries likely to be most benefited, Australia, the Cape Colonies, and the Argentine Republic take the front rank."

The traffic on the Western and Brazilian Telegraph line for the week ending February 28th was very large, £3,292.

The two last returns of the Central Uruguay Railway traffic do not show so large an increase as was previously noted, but it is good being nearly £1,000 in two weeks.

Our special Boca reporter gives the following :—

"The Naval College has established itself in Sr. Cichero's house, General Brown Station.

"If the German who offered himself a few days ago as an experienced dairyman through medium of your columns will call at once at my office, he will hear of something to his advantage."

Messrs Bollini & Muro sold the Saypacha estancia, 803 squares of prime land, for 699,230 m|c. M Bernal buyer. And they sold a site in Mercedes belonging to same testamentaria for 59,914 m|c. M Cucuyo, of Giles, buyer.

The auction of the Pardo quinta at Caballito amounted to nil; valuation too high.

Messrs Woodgate Brothers, shipbrokers, in their circular for the mail, give the following :—
